

The threads of life start to tear
Hang above the pit of our despair
Seems the end is growing near
The life you knew will disappear
Every human life will overlap and intertwine
Create the fabric and the destiny of mankind
START THE FIRES TILL THEY SURROUND
They start the fires burning until they surround
Is there nothing left
Worth fighting for?
Forever more
Beneath the waterline
Sinking further down
I dwell in silence now
Awake and face the truth of all that you have lost
A tongue tied explanation raining down from scattered thoughts
START THE FIRES TILL THEY SURROUND
They reinforce their doubts until they draw blood
Forever more
Beneath the waterline
Sinking further down
I dwell in silence now
Forever more
I will leave this world behind
Finally I drown
I dwell in silence now