

Between the Lines

Shakra

Most of the people got those crazy eyes
Carry the rage unhindered from the inside out
A distant voice from the far future cries
Either she's guiding me or warning me out loud

I am in, I am out, somewhere between the lines
Can I make it through this life and through all these hard times?
I am in, I am out, always between the lines
Could it be that I'm the only one out of his mind?
Between the lines

Are double standards suddenly the rule?
And why you're called a fool when you just do it right?
Being a bragger lately seems so cool
Does everything entirely have to be a fight?

I am in, I am out, somewhere between the lines
Can I make it through this life and through all these hard times?
I am in, I am out, always between the lines
Could it be that I'm the only one out of his mind?
Between the lines

I am in, I am out, somewhere between the lines
Can I make it through this life and through all these hard times?
I am in, I am out, always between the lines
Could it be that I'm the only one out of his mind?
I am in, I am out, somewhere between the lines
Can I make it through this life and through all these hard times?
I am in, I am out, always between the lines
Could it be that I'm the only one out of his mind?
Between the lines
Between the lines
Between the lines
