

Innocence

Shaman

I woke today
Inside the train of dreams
The rain poured down in black and white
I stood and stared
The rest of what remains
My own world crumbling around

I held my tears
One day comes after another
The falling rain
Caressed my skin again
Just let it flow to wash away

The time gone by
Feeling long denied
My heart is no more bound in vain

And now it's clear
One day leads on to another
I cried my tears
There's so much else to discover
Somewhere...

I hear the sound
Of thousand voices
I lost my Innocence
I'm on my way
Across the desert
To rescue what I sent
Out of my heart away

Now it's clear
One day leads on to another
Go find our fears
Find the way back to each other
Oh!

I hear the sound
Of thousand voices
I lost my Innocence
I'm on my way
Across the desert
To rescue what I sent
Out of my heart ...

I hear the sound
And thousand voices
I lost my Innocence
And my own way
Across the desert
To rescue what I sent
Out of my heart away