

Catch Me Singing

Shane & Shane

You always finish what You start
You always finish what You start
What You have grown into a garden

You planted in the dark
You always finish what You start

Good things just take a little time
Good things just take a little time
Your hands are working in the soil
And bringing me life
Good things just take a little time

I will trust You in the famine
I will bless You in the feast
When I'm standing in Your victory
When I'm on my knees
I will praise You at the rising
And the setting sun
You're gonna catch me singing when the spring time comes

This story has an empty grave
This story has an empty grave
Jesus the process is mystery
But Your promise never fades
This story has an empty grave

We will be walking through the fire
And dancing on the waves
This story has an empty grave

I will trust You in the famine
I will bless You in the feast
When I'm standing in Your victory
When I'm on my knees
I will praise you at the rising
And the setting sun
You're gonna catch me singing when the spring time comes

You've been God for a long time
You're the final word
You're the finish line
Everything's gonna be alright
You've been God for a long time

You've been God for a long time
You're the final word
You're the finish line
Everything's gonna be alright, gonna be alright
Cause You've been God for a long time

Oh, I know
You've been God for a long time
You're the final word
You're the finish line
Everything's gonna be alright
You've been God for a long time

I will trust You in the famine
I will bless You in the feast
When I'm standing in Your victory
When I'm on my knees
I will praise You at the rising
And the setting sun

You're gonna catch me singing when the spring time comes
You're gonna catch me singing when the spring time comes
You're gonna catch me singing when the spring time comes
