Bells

Shannon Wright

Your presence howls inside my ear You lifted the ark from me Now there's nothing i cannot see A wooden tin, a hidden sleet

Throw the matches upon my bed In this boiling light It swims through this Hollowed bin to me Now you ring the bells