

Satellites

Shannon Wright

Every day the sun down
Knocking flames
Kingdom that we use to keep
Now a fable not a dream
A silver coated satellites
Such a sad and lovely sight

Winter comes
Knocking
I was born an only child
Now a fable not a dream
Every child stands in line
For silver coated satellites