

If you tell me I'm still the one
I won't fall for that lies again

If you ask me why I changed my mind
It could go on for so many days

What's the point of
Looking back in the past
When there's nothing we can change
You fooled me once and now
There is no second time

You should've known better
Girl you if you knew better
You should've known better
Then we wouldn't need
All this nonsense

What's the point of
Looking back in the past
When there's nothing we can change
You fooled me once and now
There is no second time

You should've known better
Girl you if you knew better
You should've known better
Then we wouldn't need
All this nonsense