

Godspeed

James Shayfer

Funny how it's easier to see
The forest for the trees, when winter steals the leaves
There's many ways to hide a heart that bleeds
But I prefer the ease of rolling up my sleeves

You've got some nerve to be coming around with that smile on your face
And your feet on the ground
I used to be someone that you could believe
But it's been a while, been a while

You've got some nerve to be coming around with that card up your sleeve
And those thorns in your crown
I used to be someone you could believe
Been a while, been a while

Good luck, godspeed, I know I'll see you again
Good luck, godspeed, I know I'll see you again

Funny how the night is not as long, when you depend upon
The dark before the dawn
There's many ways to right a thing that's wrong
You smile, you move along
But I prefer a song

And you've got some nerve to be coming around with that smile on your face
And your feet on the ground
I used to be someone that you could believe
But it's been a while, been a while

You've got some nerve to be coming around with that card up your sleeve
And those thorns in your crown
I used to be someone you could believe
Been a while, been a while

Good luck godspeed, I know I'll see you again
Good luck godspeed, I know I'll see you again

Let me not make mazes with words
Let me be perfectly clear
Let me not make mazes with words
Get yourself, get the hell, get yourself out of here

Good luck, godspeed, I know I'll see you again
Good luck, godspeed, I know I'll see you again
Good luck, godspeed, I know I'll see you again
Good luck, godspeed, I know I'll see you again
Good luck, godspeed

I'll always call you a friend indeed