

All That Matters

Sherrié Austin

I don't care about these old socks I'm wearing
With holes in the toes
I don't mind these worn out coat hangers
Hanging up my clothes

And I don't care that the phone ain't ringing
I ain't scared to be alone
And I don't sit around and worry 'bout where
Time and money goes

All that matters, baby, is I got you
And all of this love
All that matters, baby, is I got you
And that's more than enough
More than enough

I don't mind that some past didn't
Handle me with care
And I don't waste time talking politics or religion
It don't get me anywhere

Between fast food and miracle diets
I stay as healthy as I can
And these days I'm proud that I was born a woman
And made to love a man

All that matters, baby, is I got you
And all of this love
All that matters, baby, is I got you
And that's more than enough
More than enough

Despite all the foolish things I've done
And the foolish things I'll probably do
I'll go down a genius for loving you

All that matters, baby, is I got you
And all of this love
All that matters, baby, is I got you
And that's more than enough
More than enough
