

Who's Going Up

Shirley Caesar

Who's going up, who's going up
Who's going up in that first resurrection
Who's going up, who's going up
Who's going up to meet the Lord

Who's going up, who's going up one day
Who's going up in that first resurrection
Who's going up, who's going up, oh yes
Who's going up to meet the Lord

You know why, when we see Jesus coming on a cloud to take us away
All of our saints who have died in the Lord, they're gonna meet them again one day
They'll be coming from every nation on their way to great celebration
The saints are going up to meet the Lord

Who's going up, tell me who's going up
Who's going up in that first resurrection
Who's going up, who's going up
Who's going up to meet the Lord

The saints are all over the world
We're gonna behold his holy face
And I'm gonna meet my father there in that holy place
We're gonna rest from all our labor and we'll never die no more
Come on, come on, let's go up to meet the Lord

Who's going up, who's going up
Who's going up in that first resurrection
Who's going up, who will go up one day
Who's going up to meet the Lord

Hallelujah, there'll be no more, I'm glad about it
There'll be no more crying in the midnight hour, no more dying, no more suffering, no more sickness, no more sorrow
No more black, no more white, no more other color, hallelujah
No more, no more, no more, no more

I tell you that who's going up
The church of God is going up
The saints are going up to meet the Lord

There'll be no more, no more, no more, I'm glad about it
No more graveyards, no more hospitals, no more cancer, no more weeping
No more liars, no more pain, no more killing, hallelujah
No more, no more, no more, no more
No more crying, no more dying, no more weeping in the midnight hour
Will you meet me there?
Will you meet me there?
Will you be there?
Oh, will you meet me over there?
