I say I care but I really don't
I say I'll change but I really won't
And now every day since I was team I had to be what I own
So in my pride there's an angel above
Who just wants me to die die die
I swear he tries but its never enough, (never enough)
True, it was so stupid of me
Stupid to think of all the things that could be
True, it was so stupid of me
Stupid to think of all the things that could be

I'm waiting for my turn, wait-waiting for my turn
I'm waiting for my turn, wait-waiting for my turn

Realization hit me, That need for willing to give what I need t o live
But nobody gets me, and now they all rather hit me
They see these greedy eyes, they all know that I'm willing to p ay the price
And the short door giving me, it just come and get me
True, was so stupid of me
Stupid to think of all the things that could be
True, was so stupid of me
Stupid to think of all the things that could be

I'm waiting for my turn, wa-waiting for my turn
I'm waiting for my turn, wa-waiting for my turn

I'll take whatever you think you can give
I really wanna know what you could give
I'll take whatever you think you can give
I need it, I need it
I'll take whatever you think you can give, (I need it)
I really wanna know what you could give, (I need it)
I'll take whatever you think you can give, (I need it)
I need it, I need it

I'm waiting for my turn, wa-waiting for my turn
I'm waiting for my turn, wa-waiting for my turn
