'Cause I feel it kickin', you get that tone
I'm feeling reckless and nervous 'cause you're my ghost
This situation it's both our faults
I feel the water is rising, the walls are small

I never said anything to offend you
Not patronizing what you've been through
And what you claim that I said, it was not true, it was not true
So for the last time
There are things we can't undo
And everyday with you feels like a review
So what you claim that I said, it was not true, it was not true

A million times, one million fights
It's nothing, just another game of who's to blame
It's never alright, we're never just fine
And now forever seems like yesterday

This shit is bananas
