

Every time you walk away
You break another part of me
You tell me you're better lonely
Tell me you're not so holy
Filled with empty promises
Not even close to heaven sent
You tell me you're better lonely
Tell me you're not so holy

Hate that we're like this
You're so divisive
No compromises
On the horizon
Are we in this together?
Now we're used to the pressure

Every time you walk away
You break another part of me
You tell me you're better lonely
Tell me you're not so holy
Filled with empty promises
Not even close to heaven sent
You tell me you're better lonely
Tell me you're not so holy

If just for a moment
We're not so hopeless
When we're the closest
You drift out of focus
Are we in this together?
Yeah, for worse or for better?

Every time you walk away
You break another part of me
You tell me you're better lonely
Tell me you're not so holy
Filled with empty promises
Not even close to heaven sent
You tell me you're better lonely
Tell me you're not so holy

Is this what it feels like to fall in?
Or what it feels like to lose it all?
'Cause I can breathe, but I'm drowning

(Every time you walk away)
(You break another part of me)
(You tell me you're better lonely)
(Tell me you're not so holy)
(Filled with empty promises)
(Not even close to heaven sent)
(You tell me you're better lonely)
(Tell me you're not so holy)