Evergreen

Sick Puppies

You run away from what you know You've stolen something that you do not own And as the lifeless fall I know you will too Because you know that I've got nothing left to lose

Been on the evergreen and I Know what I want to see But I can't make it alone

You run away from what you did Your selfishness deserves a place in sin For everytime that I am fought This bleeding lifeless falls Cause I know you've been running around for free And I know I've raped and afraid
