

Don't You Think It's Time

Sidewalk Prophets

I thought I'd write you a song
'Cause everything I want to say to you
Won't come out like I mean
If I sent it in a tweet
It takes a chorus
Takes a verse
We gotta practice and rehearse
A better way to waste a day
You and me, let's

Love deep and daydream
Go make some memories
Look each other in the eye
Let's turn off the TV
We've got the real thing
We were made to live this life
Don't you think it's time?

I'm wide awake and half asleep
Or maybe somewhere in between
Where do the hours go?
There aren't answers on the phone
Just move close and we will start
To see the light inside the dark
You and me and hopeful hearts
Whispering, let's

Love deep and daydream
Go make some memories
Look each other in the eye
Let's turn off the TV
We've got the real thing
We were made to live this life
Don't you think it's time, time?

We're so close, still so far
Worlds between our beating hearts
Can't rewind, can't pretend
Time won't break or bend

We're so close, still so far
Worlds between our beating hearts
Can't rewind, can't pretend
Oh, you know we gotta

Love deep and daydream
Go make some memories
Look each other in the eyes
Let's turn off the TV
'Cause we've got the real thing
We were made to live this life

Love deep and daydream
Go make some memories
Look each other in the eyes
Let's turn off the TV
'Cause we've got the real thing

And we were made to live this life
Don't you think it's time?
Don't you think it's time?

Don't want to let this fly by
Scrolling through someone's sunrise
Don't want to miss the good life
Oh, I think it's time

Don't want to let this fly by
Scrolling through someone's sunrise
Don't want to miss the good life
Oh, I think it's time
