

Power of a Tender Heart

Sidewalk Prophets

I was born beneath a sky inside a time when there were heroes
Where normal folks would give the shirt off of their back to those in need
We'd sit and talk and spend the day just catching up until the stores closed
We didn't have it all, but now I see that we had everything

Take me back
Closer to Your fire
I wanna feel that light again
Give me grace
Make it my desire
Shake my world apart
Remind how to love with the power of a tender heart

Now I'm so tired, of all the talk and all the rampant speculation
It keeps my bones on edge and leaves my soul a little irritated
Wonder what the news would be if we all learned to pray like Jesus?
I believe, yes I believe, that is really what is gonna save us

Take me back
Closer to Your fire
I wanna feel that light again
Give me grace
Make it my desire
Shake my world apart
Remind how to love with the power of a tender heart

Take me back
Closer to Your fire
I wanna feel that light again
Give me grace
Make it my desire
Shake my world apart
Remind how to love with the power of a tender heart

Remind me
Remind me
Remind me
Remind me how to love!
Remind me
Remind me
Remind me

Today I saw it when I look into the bluest eyes of my son
In the way, he laughs and plays, there's joy inside his DNA
Not a care in this whole world somehow he understands this deep love
We all need the tenderness, you can only find in simple ways

Take me back
Closer to Your fire
I wanna feel that light again
Give me grace
Make it my desire
Shake my world apart (Shake it apart)

Take me back
Closer to Your fire
I wanna feel that light again

Give me grace
Make it my desire
Shake my world apart (Shake it apart)
