

Rosemary

Sierra Ferrell

Way back on the mountain in our deeply forest hill
Where me and my true love, we said "I do"
But nothing lasts forever in today's world though it seems
When there's so much evil, evil

When there's a witch that is on your back
Makes it feel like the night will attack
You've got a witch that is on your back
Now I feel like a heart attack, oh a heart attack

And one day that rain, it started
It never stopped, no it never stopped
I knew now with just one glance
That dam, it wouldn't hold one more drop
I thought we would die together
Your hand in mine, your hand in mine

But you went back to Rosemary
You went up on the hillside
Way back in the mountains
Where Rosemary, she waits for you
Where Rosemary, she waits for you

I thought that when I awoke
That would be my last day, yodelay-oo
I thought when that river came
It would carry me away

I'm alive, I went back in the mountain
I went up on the hillside
I went to Rosemary's
Where I'm killing both of you
So I made me a garden
And I dug it in the morning
But underneath that flower bush
Rosemary waits for you
Well, Rosemary waits for you

I killed that witch that was on my back
No more feel like the night will attack
I killed the witch that was on my back
Now I feel like I can relax
Like I can relax