

Against The Grain

Signs of Betrayal

It's easy for others to judge one
When the feeble mind is composed of
Jealousy and resent
Talk to me like you know me
And tell me things that I should be
As if I don't know what's best
So take your persuasion elsewhere
And stand in my shoes if you dare
I'll gladly put you to the test

Know that I will continue to push on and I
Will not finish til I prove you wrong because I
Know that accomplishing my dreams will help you to see things
That you never could be

Never asked for any acceptance
Or had a need for any opinions
Must be your arrogance
I'm in touch with my own agenda
So who are you now to question
The will to succeed in my passions
No courage in what you stand
All I'm looking to is obtain more
For people like you to imagine

Know that I will continue to push on and I
Will not finish til I prove you wrong because I
Know that accomplishing my dreams will help you to see things
That you never could be

Amongst all of the doubt I will fear nothing through this Distastefully try to seduce my own bliss
I won't compromise so take your design
I'll face these days going against the grain

Know that I will continue to push on and I
Will not finish til I prove you wrong because I
Know that accomplishing my dreams will help you to see things
That you never could be