

My Song To You

Signs of Betrayal

Have you ever felt you were lost
Standing amongst the mass
Tried explaining the delicate thoughts
And hoping the pain will pass
All these feelings I live everyday
They echo inside my head
As I lye awake in bed

This is my life, guarded and weak
Frail words I share, left exposing me
So now I'm here, repairing the wounds
With this I give, my song to you

Melodies and notes I create
Like images that unfold
Telling stories of lies and deceit
That eats away at my soul
Will the changing seasons replace
The deadening leaves of love,
Or will I just stay this cold?

This is my life, guarded and weak
Frail words I share, left exposing me
So now I'm here, repairing the wounds
With this I give, my song to you

On a stage built from hate
The rain just keeps falling
Will it ever wash away?
I'll tattoo it on me
To explain to the world
How I have been broken and betrayed...

This is my life, guarded and weak
Frail words I share, left exposing me
So now I'm here, repairing the wounds
With this I give, my song to you.