

Regrets Only

Silent Drive

Month one the passion, how we couldn't believe it
Touching faces with the hands that held our hearts in place
Until you said I don't see what I want you to be
So I'll plant this seed into your life and then I'll try and make you me

Month two is when you thought you knew someone, you had someone
But expected they would grow with you together as you said
I don't see what I want you to be
So I'll plant this seed into your life and then I'll try and make you me

Months turn to years and love turned to tears, you fight and scream at me
You tried to mold the one you'd love to love but now you see
That I see that you never wanted me for me
And the look in your eyes tells you that it might be time to fear me

Back down
Because you just don't see
That you should have turned around
Because you fucked with me

The fatigue breaks me down
And my hands start to clench
The vibration stops the brain
From thinking as I scream

Now do you see what you wanted me to be
As you planted the seed into the life you stole from me?
I strike hard as I break and the heart stops the beat
As I punch out the teeth that once smiled
You'll scream that you never wanted this from me
That you tried to plant the seed to make the dream that we once believed
