

Afterthought

Silent Theory

I'm the voice in your head
That you can't keep out
I'm the eyes that you find
In a faceless crowd
I'm the flame in the wind
That you can't slow down
It'll feed, steal the breath
Right from your mouth

Oh, you think you know me
But I think you don't
Oh, you think you own me
But you can't ignore me

Life!
I won't let it pass me by
I won't let you close your eyes on me
Won't let you sleep on me
Now I'm
The first thing that crossed your mind
The last thing you left to die and rot
Won't be your afterthought
Your afterthought

I've been here all along
But it's nothing new
Like a crack in the pane
That you look right through
Your silver tongue left me lost
In a thin dust
Left me out in the rain to rust
Crawling back on the day
That I don't need you

Oh, you think you know me
But I think you don't
(But I think you don't)
Oh, you think you own me
But you can't ignore me

Life!
I won't let it pass me by
I won't let you close your eyes on me
Won't let you sleep on me
Now I'm
The first thing that crossed your mind
The last thing you left to die and rot
Won't be your afterthought
Your afterthought

So after all
Is said and done
Will you reach for me?
Or will you turn and run?
After all
Is said and done
Will you reach for me?

Or will you turn and run?

Life!

I won't let it pass me by

I won't let you close your eyes on me

Won't let you sleep on me

Now I'm

The first thing that crossed your mind

The last thing you left to die and rot

Won't be your afterthought

Your afterthought

Your afterthought!