

Lost Forever

Silent Theory

All the plastic people eating life away
Falling for the values and bleeding what they say
Is this the fault of my of primal instinct or are we all to blame?
Can't we get a grip upon the solitary game?

Call me what you will and call me what you might
The second's ticking, talking, creeping closer to midnight

There is no light to guide my way
There is no life that we can save
I haven't the time to change my mind
So I guess we're better lost forever

Hey get a grip on something we've got to keep it all together
We've got a ship, I guess that's something
Let's just pray the weather doesn't change
And flush us all away, create another cage
And cause another overdose comma of rage
Now I really know what will set the world on fire

There is no light to guide my way
There is no life that we can save
I haven't the time to change my mind
So I guess we're better lost forever

There is nothing that's left of me and nothing's that's left to see
And there is this pain among us all that we will always breathe and I feel this fall away but I'm never gonna stop, never gonna fade away
But the game that I break is a fragile minded game that I've never played before and Always go down like I'm falling, everybody's go but I'm stalling
And now that I'm done with this I just want to say that I am calling
And now I'm running out of breath and I can't think about this yet
And I have come around but no one's gonna fake it now

There is no light to guide my way
There is no life that we can save
I haven't the time to change my mind
So I guess we're better lost forever

Woah-oh-oh lost forever

Woah-oh-oh lost forever
Woah-oh-oh-oh-oh lost forever
Woah-oh-oh-oh we're lost forever
