After All This Time

Simon Webbe

After all, the broken stones That were thrown, for no good reason Inside, she's loving him still After all this time And though her heart bears the scars No sign of healing, It's All right She's loving him still, after all this time.

Oh yeah

Trying to push the past away Still waiting for the lights to change Try, try for the sake of their pride, pride Learning to barely feel the pain Thicker the skin the less the strain And though it's really hurting She ain't breaking, breaking, breaking 'Cause she's loving him still, after all this time

Now he knows his weakness shows Selfish soul, never changing That's fine, because she's loving him still After all this time

And to the outside eye You see a family getting by And it all seems perfect, and that's how she wants it 'Cause she's loving him still, after all this time.

Trying to push the past away Still waiting for the lights to change Try, try for the sake of their pride, pride Learning to barely feel the pain Thicker the skin the less the strain And though it's really hurting She ain't breaking, breaking, breaking 'Cause she's loving him still, after all this time

After all this time... After all, after all, after all this time

Bones have to grow, and age it shows Though we try and hide it Inside, she's loving him still After all this time And behind his tired eyes, she sees the boy with his arms wide

Who made her feel like an angel Oh that's why she's loving him still For the rest of her life, she's loving him still For the last of many miles She's loving him still After all this time