More Than Perfect

Simon Webbe

Behind your eyes a hidden mystery
(If you wanna wear black all day, just to you, that's what we say)
Don't let your [?] must be history
(Here we come, try to keep up, wherever we go, we're running out of luck)
Stop and let the world go by (Better breathe in and count to ten, then we're ready to go again)
Letting go is not a goodbye
(It's the human we all go through, the journey starts and ends with you)

You can't dress up your soul
It's something you can't see
And that is beautiful to me

I'm in love with what's under the surface
I don't care about the things that you purchase
Whatever makes you feel good, who cares if you're misunderstood
Deep down you should know that you're worth it
To me you're more than just perfect

You heal me up by holding me down
(It's about the games we play, following what's on the news all day)
There's trust between us when I'm out of town
(We're the wall they can't break through, we stand strong whatever they do)

You can't dress up your soul
It's something you can't see
And that is beautiful to me

I'm in love with what's under the surface
I don't care about the things that you purchase
Whatever makes you feel good, who cares if you're misunderstood
Deep down you should know that you're worth it
To me you're more than just perfect

You heal me up by holding me down
(It's about the games we play, following what's on the news all day)
There's trust between us when I'm out of town
(We're the wall they can't break through, we stand strong whatever they do)

You can't dress up your soul
It's something you can't see
And that is beautiful to me

I'm in love with what's under the surface
I don't care about the things that you purchase
Whatever makes you feel good, who cares if you're misunderstood
Deep down you should know that you're worth it
To me you're more than just perfect

You can't dress up your soul

I'm in love with what's under the surface
I don't care about the things that you purchase
Whatever makes you feel good, who cares if you're misunderstood
Deep down you should know that you're worth it

To me you're more than just perfect
To me you're more than just perfect
