

In Love We Rust

Simone Simons

Hold my heart, it's turning cold
Steady me if I lose control
I'm torn between the now and then
Oh, I never thought this love would end

Promises we soon forget
Angry words we still regret
Every day is a brand new war
But I couldn't say what we're fighting for

In love we rust, we turn to dust
In love we lie, we don't ask why
In love we rust, illusions crushed
In love we hide, in love we die

Memories so bittersweet
Souls entwined, yet incomplete
Holding on to a love outgrown
Oh, it hurts too much to let it go

Building walls with words unsaid
Hiding from the truth we dread
We once believed we had it all
Now there's nothing left but for us to fall

In love we rust, we turn to dust
In love we lie, we don't ask why
In love we rust, illusions crushed
In love we hide, in love we die

In love we rust, we turn to dust
In love we lie, we don't ask why
In love we rust, illusions crushed
In love we hide, in love we die

In love we rust, we turn to dust
In love we lie, we don't ask why
In love we rust, illusions crushed
In love we hide, in love we die

I'm turning cold, I lose control
We'll soon forget, but still regret
We once believed we had it all
There's nothing left, we're bound to fall