

Summer

Simple Minds

Here comes summer, here comes rain
Here comes all those mysteries, make me born again
Here comes lightning now, I like the way it shoots
Here comes all those mysteries taking me to my roots

And when the sun rises again
Into the fields I wake up
Into my dreams I descend
Where it's all so real

Here comes summer, here comes rain
Here comes all those energies, making me born again
Here comes lightning, I like the way it shoots
Here comes all those fantasies taking me to my roots

Here comes summer, here comes light
Here comes all those fantasies, taking me through the night
Here comes summer coming, here comes heat
Here comes that strange power taking me to my feet

And when the sun rises again
Into the fields I wake up
With no more dreams I descend
Where it's all so real

Here comes summer, here comes rain
Here comes all those energies, making me born again
Here comes lightning, I like the way it shoots
Here comes all those fantasies taking me to my roots

All those bodies
All those bodies move around
Oh all those bodies everywhere

Here comes summer, here comes rain
Here comes all those energies, making me born again
Here comes lightning now, I like the way it shoots
Here comes all those fantasies taking me to my roots
