

Into the Arena

Sinbreed

In the gloomy light I was waiting
Listening to clash of iron from above
All that I learned is coming now together
Need all my skills now, it's getting rough

In another world nearby
Some rich man takes a sip and smiles

My first step touching the sand
The crowd start their usual roaring
My fate in my own hands
I long to see the crack of dawning

Uncounted enemies I've slain in my life
For the amusement of many men
There will be a time when I face my master
I hope I'll be far away by then

Deep inside I feel this brutal rage
For those lords who keep me in a cage
Like a savage creature

My first step touching the sand
The crowd start their usual roaring
My fate in my own hands
I long to see the light of day
When justice will be restored
And those enjoying others falling
Will fight for their own lives
That would make up for all my pain!