

Take Me to Church

Sinéad O'connor

I don't wanna love the way I loved before I don't wanna love that way no more What have I been writing love songs for?
I don't want to write them anymore
I don't wanna sing from where I sang before I don't wanna sing that way no more What've I've been singing love songs for?
I don't wanna sing them anymore,
I don't wanna be that girl no more
I don't wanna cry no more
I don't wanna die no more
So cut me down from this here tree
Cut the rope from off of me
Sit me on the floor,
I'm the only one I should adore

Oh, Take me to church,
I've done so many bad things it hurts
yeah, Take me to church
but not the ones that hurt
'Cause that ain't the truth
And that's not what it's worth
Yeah, take me to church
oh, take me to church
I've done so many bad things it hurts
Yeah, get me to church
but not the ones that hurt
'Cause that ain't the truth
And that's not what it's worth

I'm gonna sing songs of loving and forgiving Songs of eating and of drinking, songs of living, songs of calling in the night
'cause songs are like a bolt of light And love's the only love you should invite Songs of long and spiteful fails songs that don't let you sit still Songs that mend your broken bones and that don't leave you alone
So get me down from this here tree, take the rope from off of me
sit me on the floor,
I'm the only one I should adore!

Oh, Take me to church,
I've done so many bad things it hurts
Yeah take me to church,
but not the ones that hurt
'Cause that ain't the truth
And that's not what it's worth
Yeah, take me to church
oh, take me to church
I've done so many bad things it hurts
Yeah, get me to church,
but not the ones that hurt
'Cause that ain't the truth
And that's not what it's worth
