

Throw

Single Mothers

I'd throw myself on the coals if it'd bring you back for an hour

I'd throw myself into traffic to see you again for an hour.

My dreams are simple and sad
And you keep coming back to remind me
I know I could've been better
I know I've changed, but whatever, so what?
So what?
What are we doing now?

I'd throw myself to the wolves if it'd bring you back for an hour

I'd throw my life out the window to see you again for an hour

My dreams, they're simple and sad
And you keep coming back to remind me
I know I could've been better
I know I've changed, but whatever, so what?
So what?
What are we doing now?

I've tried, I've tried
To put this all behind me
I've tried, I've tried
To put this all behind me
I've tried, I've tried
To put this all behind me
I've tried, I've tried
To put this all behind me

My dreams are simple and sad
And you keep coming back to remind me
I know I could've done better
I know I've changed, but whatever, so what?
So what?
