Sinner / Tom Naumann I lie awake at night thinkin' about you Your body next to mine It's good to feel your heartbeat I never thought that I'd be touching you, loving you And all the lost and lonely nights were so hard Without you Everybody wants somebody I want you by my side Everybody needs somebody I want you I need you Memories of moments that couldn't be destroyed I threw off these chains They're holding me back Why did we pretend We didn't care Were we scared I hate the thought To walk the streets of broken dreams