

Take It Back

Sister Hazel

Lying in the maze of your wonderland
Opened to a world I've never seen before
I'm saddened, sickened, silenced by the sound I am hearing
By the stories you're telling just to bring me down

You once were so good
But turned so bad
You think that you're right
It's all so sad

Take it back
Turn around
Keep on walking towards that new life that you found
Take it back
It's all yours
Just remember I won't be here anymore

Sinking down the steps of your secret life
I'm sipping on the poison of your lies
Dragged, beaten, blinded by all your pretending
By the web that you're spinning just to keep me down

You once were so good
But turned so bad
You think that you're right
It's all so sad

Take it back
Turn around
Keep on walking towards that new life that you found
Take it back
It's all yours
Just remember I won't be here anymore

So, stop trying to make it all feel right
You're lying, does it eat you up inside?
It's compromising me with every word
I'm recognizing that your love was only yours

Take it back
Turn around
Keep on walking towards that new life that you found
Take it back
It's all yours
Just remember, now, that I won't be here

Take it back
Turn around
Keep on walking towards that new life that you found
Take it back
It's all yours
Just remember, now, that I won't be here anymore
I won't be here
