From Twilight to Dusk

Six Degrees of Separation

No sun, no clouds, no moon, no stars Just endless grip of dark No birds to sing, no birds to fly No hope to bring them back, the hope has died This night has come to never leave And shadows steal the air we breathe Hopeless souls in a twilight world Cursed and lost they starve Twilight crawls, twilight breathes Twilight howls, twilight screams It's more than only lack of light It deviates both soul and mind Burning, blazing, glowing, howling night Creeping, crawling, breathing, prowling night Burning, blazing, glowing, howling night Creeping, crawling, breathing, prowling night From twilight to dusk Hopeless souls in a twilight world Cursed and lost they starve Twilight crawls, twilight breathes Twilight howls, twilight screams It's more than only lack of light It deviates both soul and mind Then the Sickness was born and new fire was started Bluish flames of the nocturnal madness shall define my way It's more than only lack of light It deviates both soul and mind Burning, blazing, glowing, howling night Creeping, crawling, breathing, prowling night From twilight to dusk
