

Don't Go Changing

Six60

See you seem a little distant, got me callin out your name,
Do you do it for a reason, do you want to rearrange,
Were you hurt by a lover, were they taken by another
Were they all you thought, they would be

Cos after all, it means nothing at all,
Unless you fall, so don't go changing
Stay, just the way you are
Don't go changing, stay just the way you are
Don't go changing, stay just the way you are

See I'm different from before, was that beautiful I used to know
Well do you smile because it hurts, does that damage change your worth,
But all in all, you don't need no makeup girl you're perfect just the way you are

And after all, there are millions, but only one you
Don't go changing, stay, just the way you are
Don't go changing, stay, just the way you are
