

Is that all it takes to embrace the temptation
A little push in a different direction
The smile you made
Was the start of this decay
The pages fade
And this chapter goes up in flames

I had to just watch you walk away
Left me staring at this empty space
Wash away the feelings that remain
Now I'm drowning under the waves

You won't shatter what's left of me
This stone cold heart can finally beat
You're a distant memory
That burns inside of me
That burns inside of me
(That burns inside of me)

Show me the light, show me the way
I danced in the flames, numb to the pain
Just want to save myself, for my own sanity
(Take me away, show me my fate)
Rising up from the ashes, I bury my fear
Ignite the flame, I will not fail again
I'm drowning
In the waves again and again

You won't shatter what's left of me
This stone cold heart can finally beat
You're a distant memory
That burns inside of me
This fire in me is weak
A spark that I can barely see
It will burn again brightly
You're a distant memory
(A distant memory)

You won't shatter what's left of me
This stone cold heart can finally beat
You're a distant memory
That burns inside of me
That burns inside of me
That burns inside of me
Inside of me, inside of me
Inside of me, inside of me