Chained To A Memory

Skeeter Davis

Makes no difference if we two are far apart dear I could never ever love somebody new Cause there isn't any room inside my heart dear While I'm chained to a memory of you.

I could never tell another I belong to them All those whispered words of love would not be true I could never tell another that I long for them While I'm chained to a memory of you.

Maybe time will wear the links away and then dear They will break and set me free to love a new I could never love someone else again dear While I'm chained to a memory of you.

If the world should end tomorrow I'd be satisfied 'Cause you're gone and there is nothing I can do All my dreams and precious hopes of yesterday they have died

Yet I'm chained to a memory of you...
