Where I Ought To Be

Skeeter Davis

I got your wedding invitation
I'm surprised you thought of me
But I don't believe your wedding
Is just where I ought to be

For you put your arms around her Kiss her lips sp tenderly As she standing there beside you That's just where I ought to be

Like a fool I introduced you i said baby meet my friend Never thought I could lose you But I lost you there and then

I took the diamond ring you gave me Threw it way out to sea And I had an awful feeling That's just where I ought to be
