

Anthropophagy

Skeletal Remains

Awakening to this horrible scene
Surrounded by these horrid screams
Survival is what they plead
My mind recalling what this means

Getting closer to hitting sea
A bright light flashing in front of me
Crashing, I look for an escape
Slowly everything begins to fade away

Regaining my conscious mind
I now come back to reality
Slowly escaping Death
Abandoning this fatality

Enclosed by a vast open ocean
How will I ever survive
Swimming endlessly
Waves begin clashing against me
Blaring thundering sounds
Coming from the darkening sky
Arriving onto shore
Craving a lust to savagely gorge

Starving on this barren island
I encounter a corpse drifted to shore
Cannibalism practice has begun
For I shall starve no more
Selfish decision, carnivorous
Feast has come to an end
An impulse to consume all that was left
Reduced to starvation once again

Engaging in self dissection
I begin ingesting my flesh
Devouring human skin
My oneself carnage