Skizzy Mars

Campbell's chicken noodle soup, possibilities
Forget your ex man and his hostilities
He's just mad mad mad mad mad mad
Farewell well well well well well, til you know me well
Farewell well well well well well, til you know me well

Sometimes in life we tread water 'til the life guard arrives
And the waves subside
You always say you're not perfect
I always say I'm not worthy
If I was a better person then maybe I would be worth it
But, Ray Bans, they ? in lieu of you
You always know what to do when you're doing you
Remember doing crazy things while persuing you
And now I can't stand the thought of ever losing you
The pearl necklace and those heels
Be behooving you
And everything I ever do is undoable
You got the keys to my heart
I believe from the start
That I'm a song writer
Who writes songs with heart
You got the keys to my heart
I believe from the start
That I'm a song writer
Who writes songs with heart
You got the keys to my heart
I believe from the start
That I'm a song writer
Who writes songs with heart

Campbell's chicken noodle soup, possibilities
Forget your ex man and his hostilities
He's just mad mad
Well well, well well, well well, well well well do you know me well?
Well well, well well, well well, well well well do you know me well?

Melodies are the remedies for broken hearts
Girls that feeling me, stressing me to try and break your heart
A subtle handicap
A broken start
But [?] through the underdog
And this just makes it hard
I know you're sitting there
Timid you're a little scared
But when you come around flowers blossom everywhere
Come with me and fly with the birds in the air
Take a chance even though we're both unprepared
Let them talk, let them judge, I don't even care
Cause in life you need to take some risks here and there
Let's get binoculars, take a trip to the opera
Hey, my name is Skizzy, and my music's kinda popular

Campbell's chicken noodle soup, possibilities
Forget your ex man and his hostilities

He's just mad
Well well, well well, well well, well well well do you know me well?
Well well, well well, well well, well well well do you know me well?

The paradox in your speech makes me confident like
When you say you won't but there's a chance you may
You say you don't smoke
But I see that pack of lights
And you say you want to leave
But you really want to stay
Tired cause you've been running through my mind all day
Walks through the park in the warm days of May
I was relentless
Cause I was just sensing
That possibilities were endless

Ladies and gentlemen
I give you
Possibilities
Fritz on the composition and orchestration
I go by the name of Skizzy Mars
And we on that Mozart Ellington shit
This has been opening night
And I would like to thank you for coming
