

1989

Skold

The ghost of it all still haunting me
The thousands that had to fall in vain
I see that wall before me
And that was the way it had to be
The thousands that had to go insane
I see a war that isn't mine
It only lives inside your mind

There's a new fire
From the ashes of the old
Rising up from deep inside of lies
and stories you were told
There is still a beating
In the heart broken in two
Wisdom coming from the innocence
That they stole from you

1989

1989

The echo's strength from long ago
You follow a line where blood runs deep
I see that war before me
And way down inside you have to know
Poets and thinkers rest in peace
I see a war that will be mine
Follow the path they left behind

There's a new fire
From the ashes of the old
Rising up from deep inside of lies
and stories you were told
There is still a beating
In the heart broken in two
Wisdom coming from the innocence
That they stole from you

1989

hey hey

1989

There's a new fire