Break My Fall

Skold

I don't count my blessings
I'd rather count the stars
When you think you're happy
Things always falls apart

I can't hear the thunder
I can only hear your heart
Beating after beating
Happy on the dark

You feel like no one
Like you're not even human at all
The devil you see is the one you believe and he'll give you what you want
You feel like nothing
Like you've got nothing left at all
Even angels and kings must pay for their sins
It's time to make the call
Break my fall

Break my fall
Break my fall

You could wait forever
If you wait for the storm to pass
You'd be the first in line but when it's time
You'll be the last
People are evil and I'd be lying if I told you I care
Repeating the beating
In a human kind despair

You feel like no one
Like you're not even human at all
The devil you see is the one you believe and he'll give you what you want
You feel like nothing
Even angels and kings must suffer the slings
It's time to lose control

Don't even think you could be happy this way
Don't even think you have a second to spare
There - there you are - there - there you are

You feel like no one
Like you're not even human at all
The devil you see is the one you believe and he'll give you what you want
You feel like nothing
Even angels and kings must pay for their sins
But you still act nonchalant

'cuz I'll break your fall
I break your fall
