

Regardless of the pain, I'm tired of being lonely
I won't ever live all this down, till I shut my eyes
I'm looking for a second chance
You judge me with a passing glance
No reasons why, as life goes by
I'll just keep on trying

Like I told you, that everyone can change
So, forget yesterday, try to lead the reigns
Look inside you and you can manifest
This whole world you want to see come alive

Someday, I will not feel the way that I feel
It's hard to believe anymore, as I'm holding out for brighter days
I am not the person that you think that you all know, this is a lie
I have shed my skin and found my balance I'm alive

Clear out these ghosts inside my mind
I have found everything that once was locked up inside
A shame that I listened but that will change
Bend them to my will then wish them away
Can you help to get me another life?

Look inside you and you can manifest
This whole world you want to see come alive

I can't even look at you, the reflection of my whole life
I can't even stand here and look at you, no, no
With nothing inside, I used to feel helpless
Now I live life. Now I rise
No false pride, no transference
Now we all know how we survive