

Illusion: Order 66

Skyharbor

Hold on, don't lose the order
You know it's okay to live and learn
How long would you suffer before you sacrifice the sun?

How many times have I been here?
I can never tell
Playing with fire feels sincere
Even though I'm in hell

I won't fight the one
I turn away from order

So strong, you learn to love her
Like a child so unaware
How come we all recover?
You know it's okay to be compared

How much death have I been near?
Far too much to tell
Nothing scarred me more than fear
I step forth to tell

I won't fight the one
I turn away from order
We reverse the cell again
I won't fight the one
I turn away from order