

The Constant

Skyharbor

Once more, you're a part of this never ending burning fire
Bring some peace to my tired eyes
Take this higher when angels sing with voices of the night

I dream of endless light
A life I sacrificed
I walk through endless night
Then I'm gone again

Once more, we're a part of this constant motion
Give me the strength to keep my body going
Hide in darkness till the day is done
Exposed to so much danger, pacifying strangers
It's a story that I wrote for you, listen closely as I break through This effigy is spinning free

I dream of endless light
A life I sacrificed

The flood of power will be overwhelming
Run, hide until it's over
Didn't you see I was sinking? I was drowning overboard
I awaken

Sleep with tainted thoughts until the day that you grow old
It's a forgiving notion
I've never been so emotionally blind, I'll never give up and drop and I know
I'll never come back down from here, resisting gravitation
The stars have never been unkind, the galaxies burn into and I know they'll never leave my mind
Life is constant motion
The moon is round but has two sides
The light shines deep into and I see myself in those blue eyes, you are my i ncarnation

Crying eyes
Give me clarity within the darkness
Hide away until the day is done
Reveal to me your nature, secret prying stranger
It's the greatest day you'll ever know
It's the greatest day you'll ever know
Save me from these crying eyes

Give me strength to keep my body going
Hold my heart and let the blood flow
Exposed to so much danger, pacifying strangers
It's the greatest day you'll ever know
It's the greatest day you'll ever know
Save me from this drowning state

Give in to the endless flood
This is my last devotion to you
Give in to the endless flood
This is my last devotion to you
Give in to the flood
This is my last devotion to you