The Tears of Jupiter

Skylark

Through the heat of the desert, far away from the sky alone in the night, alone in the dark just few sparks can lead the way. The tears of Jupiter.

Hold me now, I won't be there tomorrow, take my hand and try to see where love has gone. I won't leave behind, my passion and my sorrow there's no time to fly, too late to fall in love.

The tears of Jupiter will rise above, the darkest sky will shin e to carry on. I'm not the one supposed to stop this fall, another night... th e planet will be gone.
