

Giants Fall

Slaine

Conspire, Slaine, come on
Yeah

As I stand once again at the church steps
While the box gets raised by the pall-bearers
And the same neighbourhood I had first left
I look around and see these faces are all mirrors
I can see the past I recall clearest
Fall nearest, brothers that we call dearest
Under the thunder while we wonder if the Lord hear us
I seen the writing on the wall where I scrawl lyrics
To crush it when the panic comes in
And hope again, hope to be a man among men
'Til you walk in my shoes and you stand in my skin
You'll never understand how bananas I've been
There's life in the streets, how do we run through it?
I guess we either rise above it or succumb to it
I seen the Hell and the Heaven of it all
The good die young, buried with the legends of the fall

I watched the giants fall
I seen you stumble off the lies that you told
I watched the goddess fall
In the past, you flew, but now you're flying low

Yeah, was a druggie twenty years - now it's over, guy
Bad guys back now a good guy, Cobra Kai
Vocalize, there is no more lies, I am transparent
Gaining knowledge, what's the point if you can't share it?
Evolve, I don't want problems, I want 'em resolved
Walk straight ahead on the swivel, watch out for evil
I am small, but twice you have seen this giant fall
Major eagle, little knucklehead with iron balls
Staying 'way from drama now, like, how the hell am I involved?
Unless you want some positive energy, please don't try and call
Used to think I'm king of the jungle, the little lion roar
Now half my friends are gone or on the other side of iron doors
Ruined, I dove from too entitled to suicidal
Sighted 'cause I'm happy now, so everything I do is vital
Appreciate the blessings, keep my head down and keep grinding
Come out the darkness if you want the light, you will find it

I watched the giants fall
I seen you stumble off the lies that you told
I watched the goddess fall
In the past, you flew, but now you're flying low
I watched the giants fall
I seen you stumble off the lies that you told
I watched the goddess fall
In the past, you flew, but now you're flying low
I watched the giants fall
I seen you stumble off the lies that you told
I watched the goddess fall
In the past, you flew, but now you're flying low
I watched the giants fall
I seen you stumble off the lies that you told
I watched the goddess fall

In the past, you flew, but now you're flying low

I watched the giants fall

I watched the giants fall

I watched the giants fall

I watched the giants fall
