

home

slchld

I'm calming down
The shadows of my soul
Can you tell the difference of my tone
The people I used to know
The love that I used to own
All have gone to somewhere distant from Home
Maybe I'm insane
Although I'm alone
Together with my heart
I'm singing all my blues away
The colors fade to black
The white inside of me the canvas within
The darkness subsides
I see the light for the first time
I'm yours forever, more and more

Piles of self-hatred took away my nights
I've spent a night in white

No one ever
Taught me how to blame outside
That make these inside ease

So babe please

Take me away
Take me away
Run away

To where I couldn't
See the world right

Where I couldn't
See the world right