

IMAGINE

slchld

She's used to sunshines and roses
Pale blue skies but all I can give
Is some glow from the moon and the slow winds
Brushing past all her dreams that she had

I can't say for sure what my goal is
Reflecting on what we've become yet
I still find myself looking for you
Can't bridge the gap we've made new

Remember the days
When we were just friends
We could say anything
Without a complaint
But never too distant
I kind of miss it cuz
Now I'm afraid
Afraid to imagine

Am I in the way
The feelings I get when
We're fading to grey
The future that you said
You'd conquer one day
Where did it go
Is it my fault again
Are we our own mistakes

Are you still hurting
We're both exhausted

She's used to sunshines and roses
Pale blue skies but all I can give
Is some glow from the moon and the slow winds
Brushing past all her dreams that she had

I can't say for sure what my goal is
Reflecting on what we've become yet
I still find myself looking for you
Can't bridge the gap we've made new

She's used to sunshine and roses
But with me by her side
It just feels like the flowers might die
Worried I'm too much
Sorry's never really feel like their enough
Also worried that my sorries make her worry
Stop repeat

She's used to sunshine
And I try to get by
And when it's crunch time
She's always been down for the ride
Smiling through the turbulence
Always making sure my seatbelts fastened
With red eyes on late nights as I crash down

Are you not hurting
You must be exhausted

She's used to sunshines and roses
Pale blue skies but all I can give
Is some glow from the moon and the slow winds
Brushing past all her dreams that she had

I can't say for sure what my goal is
Reflecting on what we've become yet
I still find myself looking for you
Can't bridge the gap we've made new

Remember the days
When we were just friends
We could say anything
Without a complaint
But never too distant
I kind of miss it cuz
Now I'm afraid
Afraid to imagine