

Losing Touch

slchld

Girl, you're still wasted
I was just waiting
Till I got a callback
From you know who

But on the real
You need to choose
It's him or me I know by the end of the day

Girl I tried just once to harm you
But to my defence, you were trying to contain
It ain't too healthy to contain that much anger
So I took yours as my own and here's what I got

Know when you stare at your walls
You lost your touch and it broke you
You said that you wanted something else
Maybe on the way
We'll get help

911
Is that help?
I don't know if I can trust these men
With guns in my room
I didn't forget
The promise we made
But I'll break this promise
Girl, I'm worried about you

Know when you stare at your walls
You lost your touch and it broke you
You said that you wanted something else
Maybe on the way
We'll get help

Or maybe we'll head back

I took it up a notch and now
You won't ever say I love you
I've been wrong
I'm too afraid to tell you that I'm the same
Love comes and goes, like the wind
I'm sorry for everything

Know when you stare at your walls
You lost your touch and it broke you
You said that you wanted something else
Maybe on the way
We'll get help

Or maybe we'll head back