

Always Crashing The Same Car

Sleep On It

Tear down my walls
Stay on the outside
Waving goodbye
Left me with hands tied
For the thousandth time
You can't make up your mind

So leave me alone
Or drag me through glass again
Here on my own
Back on my feet again
I left you behind
My crutch, the thorn in my side

Make up your mind

I'm starting from scratch
Finding a new path
To try to escape
The sand in the hourglass
Before I lose my time
To rebuild and define

Finding roads I crossed on my own
Tearing from these roots I've outgrown
I've been looking for the right answer
But you tell me I'm a disaster
Climbing walls I built on my own
To find my unknown

For the last time
Make up your mind

Finding roads I crossed on my own
Tearing from these roots I've outgrown
I've been looking for the right answers
But you tell me I'm a disaster
Climbing walls I built on my own
To find my unknown
To find my unknown