

Burning At Both Ends

Sleep On It

It's a fading light we follow
A bitter pill to swallow
But the feeling never left for me and you
It's a reckless love I'm feeling
Like everything is fleeting
Give me something I can sink my teeth into

I won't let you bring me down
Feel the ground under my feet
While my head is in the clouds
I'm drowning out the sound

Where do you go
When the one thing that you know
Isn't what you always wanted it to be
Where do you go
When there's no room left to grow
And you're blocking out the melody
And all that's left is memory

With all I've been concealing
It should have been revealing
That there's something under every word I say
As the sun sets on this chapter
The fires fading faster
But I will never let it fade away

I won't let you bring me down
Feel the ground under my feet
While my head is in the clouds
I'm drowning out the sound

Where do you go
When the one thing that you know
Isn't what you always wanted it to be
Where do you go
And you're blocking out the melody
And all that's left is memory

I won't let you bring me down
I'm drowning out the sound

I won't let you bring me down
You're blocking out the melody
I'm drowning out the sound
And all that's left is memory
I won't let you bring me down
You're blocking out the melody
I'm drowning out the sound

Where do you go
When the one thing that you know
Isn't what you always wanted it to be
Where do you go
And you're blocking out the melody

And all that's left is memory
And you're blocking out the melody
